

Sentosa Learning Journeys for Pre-schoolers

Connecting Through Conservation

Sentosa Nature Discovery Trail

Engage the young minds as they explore the flora and fauna of the island that boasts eight different types of habitat.

Interactive exhibits encourage hands-on activities as the students learn about the island's ecosystem and the impact of human activities on nature.

The programme instils the value of conserving natural habitats and shows them how anyone can contribute to the conservation of natural habitats simply by taking small steps and being mindful of their actions.

The Geology Gallery also offers a deeper look at the origins of Sentosa as students learn how geology affects their daily lives.

Co+Nut+Ink Educational Recycling Programme

Coconut shells can be reused as bowls, flower pots, hats, and even canvases for art. Co+Nut+Ink is a fun recycling exercise that also lets your students express their inner Picasso on a unique medium that adds another dimension to their creativity. There will be fresh coconut juice and coconut ice-cream waiting for them on the beach!

Marine ConservAction

Discover the journey of our Sentosa turtles through an interactive sharing. What are the potential dangers that lie in their way, and what can we do to help the little hatchlings get back to sea safely to join their marine friends?

In this programme, your children will learn how they can contribute to marine conservation, and take action through the hands-on experience of litter picking along the beaches and determine some of the common types of litter with a quick analysis of the rubbish collected.

This programme is recommended for families with young children, to understand marine conservation better and help our children be future eco-warriors!
